New York, February 9, 2009: Encompass Group Affiliates, Inc. (OTC Bulletin Board: ECGA), the nation's largest distributor of consumer electronics parts and a leader in the consumer electronics reverse logistics industry today announced the opening of a major new distribution and repair facility in Las Vegas, Nevada.

The 38,000-square-foot ProLogis facility will be a parts distribution center for leading brands of consumer electronics products, appliances, and imaging and computer products. It will also house a state of the art board-level test and repair facility.

According to Encompass CEO Wayne Danson, the new facility is scheduled to be fully operational by March 1, 2009, and is expected to generate substantial accretive revenue in the first year.

Danson stressed that the Las Vegas center is a key element in the company's growth plan, giving Encompass a broader, more robust national footprint. "With the addition of this important facility, we will now be capable of making routine two-day UPS ground deliveries to customers in every state, thereby enhancing customer satisfaction." Danson added, "With this coast-to-coast reach, along with our advanced data management and objective-driven account management, we will continue to define a new vision for the reverse logistics industry – offering a true single-source, total-lifecycle capability."

The Las Vegas facility will boost the company's total distribution, returns management, service and repair capacity to approximately 340,000 square feet, with major facilities in the Baltimore, Atlanta and Orlando areas, as well as Miami. Encompass is already the largest consumer electronics parts distributor in the nation due to its acquisition of what were previously the country's second- and third-largest distributors (Vance Baldwin Electronics and Tritronics Inc., respectively).
